

AMBASSADOR'S PEPFAR SMALL GRANTS PROGRAM

APPLICATION PACKET

The American Ambassador to Nigeria's PEPFAR Small Grant (PSG) Program provides small grants to community based programs that improves the lives of orphans and other vulnerable children (OVC) affected by HIV/AIDS. It is designed to help communities help themselves. Under this program, projects must originate in the community, and the community must make significant contributions to the success of the project, such as land, labor, money, materials, ongoing supervision, and other resources. Currently, the American contribution to any one project ranges from USD$5,000 to USD$10,000. Smaller requests are also welcome.

All funds under the Program are disbursed in Naira.

Project Selection Criteria

The PSG Program assists in improving the health and social conditions of a community. PSG project proposals selected for funding generally incorporate the following criteria; projects should:

- Involve a significant local contribution in cash, labor, or material,
- Be maintained and operated by the local community,
- Improve basic health or social conditions of children (0-17) in the community,
- Benefit a large number of people through high-impact, quickly implemented activities,
- Be completed within 6 months and not require additional funds to maintain, and
- Have visible benefits for the community and be self-sustaining.
- Must be related to HIV/AIDS prevention, care and support, education or capacity building.

These criteria should be used as a guideline for applicants.

Limitations

The PSG Program cannot provide funding for the following:

- Religious activities (however, many religious organizations sponsor or supervise local community activities that serve community needs rather than religious purposes, and these activities may be eligible for assistance),
- Police or military activities,
- Cultural activities,
- Salaries,

- Office supplies or other expendable supplies,
- Projects in refugee camps or communities,
- Projects involving pesticides, fungicides, or herbicides, or
- Individually owned businesses or enterprises.
- Used for cost of direct treatment.

Acceptable Projects

Projects that may be funded by the PSG Program include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Basic Education/Training Programs or workshops in the areas of:
 - Food and Nutrition
 - Safe Infant Feeding and Weaning
 - Caregivers' practices
 - HIV/AIDS prevention and care
 - Legal and protection aid
- Small construction of a health clinic or classroom
- School or Health Clinic Equipment
- Durable goods like a stove or refrigerator for a classroom or clinic

The Application

All requests for funding under the PSG Program should be made on a "U.S. Embassy Abuja PEPFAR Small Grant Project Application" form. Each question on the application must be completed before the application can be considered for funding. Applications should be submitted by May 1 to be considered for funding in the coming year. Blank applications are available on the U.S. Embassy website and may be photocopied.

The Agreement

If a project is selected to receive support, the project director designated on the application form will be notified and must sign an agreement with the United States of America. This agreement explains the responsibilities of each party. The agreement commits funds expressed in U.S. dollars for the project. The Program can not provide additional funds to a project after the agreement has been signed. The community organization responsible for the project must have sufficient financial resources to cover any project costs that exceed the amount provided by the Program. The dollar amount stipulated by the agreement will be converted into Naira before being disbursed to the project director.

Payment

All requests for reimbursement for items already purchased for the project must be accompanied by original receipts for each of the items. Checks are normally issued four to six weeks after a request for an advance or reimbursement has been submitted to the embassy. Limited advances may be approved for the purchase of project supplies or equipment. In order to receive an advance, the project director must submit pro-forma invoices from their suppliers. Usually, at least three invoices showing competitive prices must be submitted to the embassy to begin the payment process. Funds remaining in an account after an advance has been approved will not be released until receipts against the advance are submitted to account for any outstanding advances.

Progress Report

Project directors are required to submit photographs and progress reports after the initial disbursement has been made and before the remaining funds will be released. Progress reports should discuss work completed to date, problems encountered, work remaining and schedule, outstanding anticipated costs, and estimated date of project completion. A final project report and photographs must be provided to the Ambassador either before or in lieu of a commissioning ceremony.

Follow up

After a project is underway, the Ambassador or his designated representative may wish to attend the commissioning ceremony. Photographs of the project should be submitted to the embassy to be used in the follow-up report to Washington. Remember that all projects must include plans for posting a sign indicating the U.S. government's support. The community should recognize that embassy representatives may be interested in visiting the site of a project even several years after the project has been completed. Project directors are asked to prepare a follow-up report for the Ambassador on the one-year anniversary of the completion of the project. This follow-up report should discuss how well the project has succeeded in meeting its goals, any difficulties in sustaining the project that may have been encountered, how the community has been affected by the project, and what the future of the project is.
